Dear Friend,

For over 45 years, The NCBCP has been a leading voice for hope in our community, championing black civic participation and social justice in every corner of our communities. Your generous, tax-deductible donation will directly support:

- The Black Women’s Roundtable
- Black Youth Vote (BYV)
- Black Male Initiative
- The Power of The Ballot Unity 2024 Black Voter Outreach Campaign
- The NCBCP Thomas W. Dortch, Jr. Institute at Clark Atlanta University

In these challenging times, where our fundamental rights and freedoms are under siege, NCBCP stands as a frontline defender of our community. This Giving Tuesday, we ask for your support to combat the escalating threats against voting rights, reproductive freedoms, black history, affirmative action, economic mobility, and to fight systemic racism.

Together, we can build on our success. Your support will ensure our work in increasing civic engagement, promoting the health and well being of Black women and girls, engaging young voters, expanding economic opportunities, and advocating for social justice continues to stay front and center on the national agenda.

Can NCBCP count on you to support these important programs and the communities they serve with a $5, $10, $25 donation or more TODAY?

Your support is our strength in these pivotal times.

In Solidarity,
Team NCBCP
